JUNK -- ABOVE ALL, A

how present.

Last Sunday's meeting in addition to an increased number of Avenue merchants, included at least two knowledgeable doctors as well as other persons who have been professionally concerned with the problem, and members of the board of trustees of the Free Clinic.

In addition, there were some one definitely known advantage is that it frees the addict from a life of crime.

Dr. Steven Fischer broke in and said that methadone "has been 80% successful." Asked about the long term effects of methadone, he admitted, "Nobody knows."

Dr. Fischer is trying to get a methadone maintenance program operating through Herrick Mem-

The doctor explained to me that apomorphine acts on the back brain to regulate the metabolism and normalize the blood stream in such a way that the enzyme system of addiction is destroyed over a period of four or five days. Once the back brain is regulated apomorphine can be discontinued and only used in case of relapse. (No one would take apomorphine for kicks. Not one case of addiction to apomorphine has ever been recorded.) I agreed to undergo treatment and entered a nursing home. For the first twenty-four hours I was literally insane and paranoid as many addicts are in severe withdrawal. This delirium was dispersed by twenty-four hours of intensive apomorphine treatment.

The doctor showed me the chart. I had received minute amounts of morphine that could not possibly account for my lack of the more severe withdrawal symptoms such as leg and stomach cramps, fever and my own special symptom, The Cold Burn, like a vast hive covering the body and rubbed with menthol. Every addict has his own special symptom that cracks all control.

I saw the apomorphine treatment really work. Eight days later I left the nursing home eating and sleeping normally. I remained completely off junk for two full years--a twelve year record. I did relapse for some months as a result of pain and illness. Another apomorphine cure has kept me off junk through this writing.

The apomorphine cure is qualitatively different from other methods of cure. I have tried them all: short reduction, slow reduction, cortisone, antihistamines, tranquilizers, sleeping cures, toslerol, reserpine. None of these cures lasted beyond the first opportunity to relapse. I can say definitely that I was never metabolically cured until I took the apomorphine cure. The overwhelming relapse statistics from the Lexington Narcotic Hospital have led many doctors to say that addiction is not curable.
chase the dealer further into a hole or help him out of a hole?" He explained that street dealers sell to support their habit; "Get rid of one and five more will take his place."

The proposal to picket was dropped, but many objected to a dull, drawn-out business-as-usual approach for fear boredom would stifle the will to win.

Somebody then related how a year ago one of the main importers into New York had cut off all the supply for three days, to illustrate what it would mean to Mr. Big. The junks became frantic, ripping through drug stores for opium drugs. The police were impressed and now the biggest supplier in New York works with no harassment.

Ray Couture, formerly of Bridge Over Troubled Waters, read the proposed platform plank on drugs for the April Coalition. It calls for drug assay centers to protect buyers of non-profits, non-profit community drug stores, drug education conducted by ex-addicts, drug abuse treatment centers, and " Lyme neglect" of pot and psychodelics laws by police but vigorous work carefully on a program through the Health Commission.

City Councilman and Mayoral candidate Borden Price said there was a lot of concern and willingness to study a program on the council. "We will do whatever we can to get it on the agenda," he promised.

The meeting ended with agreement to circulate an anti-heroin petition, ask the city to consider the problem as an emergency, and to continue the informational campaign with a street newspaper. The paper will be given away. Ray Couture will edit it. It will be strictly drug information. The meeting ended with a lot of ideas had been brought up, but were not satisfactorily explored. There is ample work ahead for further sessions. Plans are to meet every other Sunday at the Clinic.

" Everybody there was trying to get a job," one man assessed the meeting. The Bridge people are trying to get money for their program, he pointed out. Dr. Fischer was trying to get his program and at least four people were April candidates.

I got a chance to talk to Dr. Batterman later. He enlarged on his ideas for a program.

First, he said, we are hamstrung by federal and state laws that define the drug user as a criminal. They cannot be changed except through a long process of education. In the eyes of some people drug users are dangerous fiends.

Dr. Batterman suggests:

• "Help those who are on hard narcotics.
• Go after non-addict pushers - the mob hierarchy."
• "Start better educational programs for youngsters." He explained that teenagers start on heroin because of peer group pressures. That the average age of heroin users is down to 18.
• "Recognize the distinctions between drugs."
• "Treat the addict."

He sees methadone as perhaps the best hope now to help the addict. Methadone is an addictive drug which combats the withdrawal symptoms of heroin. It is still in a research stage. But it is known that it gets the addict out of the life of crime. What is not known is what the long-term effects of methadone are or whether it is possible to cure methadone addiction.

Along with methadone, the program must rehabilitate the addict - attack the problems which got him into addiction in the first place. The psychology of the heroin addict is much like that of an alcoholic, the doctor explained. Personal problems are crucial.

He also urged fighting the public health problems that come along with heroin, such as hepatitis, malaria, poisoning and malnutrition.

He warned that heroin addiction has always been increased after wars. Soldiers bring back the addiction and also many of them have trouble adjusting to peace. We may have a very heavy problem when Johnny comes marching home from Indochina.

Pure heroin is not harmful at all, Dr. Batterman pointed out. But methadone is better for maintenance because the doses need not be so frequent.

Finally, he had good news on the Herrick Community Mental Health Clinic - South Berkeley Model City methadone program. It will go into operation "soon -- in two weeks to two months."

The program is not getting publicity, he explained, because the directors do not want to overpromote it as a solution. But the program is almost put together and funded. It will start as soon as the staff is filled.

(Below is a statement read to and adopted by last Sunday's anti-junk meeting.)

Dealers are pigs feeding off our brothers and sisters. Heroin addicts need your help and mine.

We, the citizens of Berkeley must set up a methadone treatment program. We must petition the city council and the city's establishment and the citizens to raise the funds needed for such a program in Berkeley and purchase the land in a rural area of California, establishing a communal farm or halfway house -- a revolutionary family or and for brothers and sisters who want to produce, create, make revolution, evolve and love.

I've seen the exact manner in which the junk virus operates through fifteen years of addiction. The pyramid of junk, one level eating the level below (it is no accident that junk higher-ups are always fat and the addict in the street is always thin) right up to the top or tops since there are many junk pyramids feeding on peoples of the world and all built on basic principles of monopoly:

1 - Never give anything away for nothing.
2 - Never give more than you have to give (always catch the buyer hungry and always make him wait).
3 - Always take everything back if you possibly can.

The Pusher always gets it all back. The addict needs more and more junk to maintain a human form ... buy off the Monkey.

Junk is the mold of monopoly and possession. The addict stands by while his junk legs carry him straight in on the junk beam to relapse. Junk is quantitative and accurately measurable. The more junk you use the less you have and the more you have the more you use. All the hallucinogen drugs are considered sacred.

As steps are being taken in these areas, we must let the dealers of hard drugs know that they should peddle their shit elsewhere. Dealers will be identified and caught after not by the police, but by revolutionary Berkeley brothers and sisters. There will be no further feeding off of our potentially revolutionary brothers and sisters; people who are neither criminal or sick. They are fighting for their spiritual survival.

If one finger is diseased and infection sets in, the doctor amputates. Likewise, we shall cut off the gangrene that now infects the streets of Berkeley.
